A summary of your work along with an artist statement (no more than 400 words) :

Frontline worker, mask, social distance, quarantine, pandemic, coronavirus, lockdown... all these words used to be so strange and far away from me, but after 2020, I can define each of them in an accurate terms, and something even more funny, these words became my most frequent used daily language.

I used to love FaceTime with my family and friends, but after endless zoom class and google meet, I miss face to face interaction with my friends, teachers, coaches, and family. I took a picture of my mom and my little brother wearing masks kissing, I named this picture " HOPE & LOVE", and hope the feeling of mum's hug and kiss can warm up everyone feeling lonely and left off.
