

Once Upon A Forest

By Hailey Belle K

One sunny day Everly went to Evergreen Forest with her best friend Luna. The forest was big with lots of flowers and trees. But strangely that day everything looked dry. The two girls were exploring and came across a talking tree. "You need to help us!" The tree exclaimed. "We used to have beautiful pumpkins growing here, but one day someone stole them. A witch named Hilda who grew them became angry and put a spell on the forest for nothing to grow." The friends felt sad so made a plan to grow the pumpkins themselves and persuade Hilda to undo the curse.

The next day the girls got some seeds and a book about plants. Everly read, "Spread the seeds 2cm deep. Spread 3 seeds in each spot you want a pumpkin to grow." Luna did just that. They watered the soil everyday until one day the pumpkins grew. Hilda was very happy to see her pumpkins again so she lifted the curse and the forest blossomed.

Hilda learned that the world has kindness and no matter how little you are, you can make a difference, big or small. Everyone lived happily ever after. Especially the tree! 🌲😊
